WHERE DO I SEE MYSELF IN 5 YEARS?

In five years, I see myself becoming someone difficult to define in just one title: a finance-minded builder, investor, and film enthusiast who has turned ambition into direction. I imagine myself deeply invested in my finance journey possibly pursuing or already working through the CFA path while building real financial knowledge, discipline, and a lifestyle centered on growth. And I've likely started building real wealth through savings and investments. At the same time, films remain more than entertainment to me; they become a way I understand people, emotions, and myself. Guided by my motto, "Born of humility, driven by ambition, guided by wisdom," I see myself still evolving not finished, but steadily becoming the person I once imagined.
